THE GREAT LEVELER.
BY JAMES SHIRLEY.

[James Shirley was a dramatic author of the seventeenth century, with a checkered career as a clergyman, first of the Anglican and then of the Roman church. His theme may not be a welcome one, but the majesty of treatment and its truth deserve our thought.]

The glories of our birth and state
Are shadows, not substantial things:
There is no armor against Fate—
Death lays his icy hand on kings.
Scepter and crown
Must tumble down,
And in the dust be equal made
With the poor crooked scythe and spade.
Some men with swords will reap the field,
And plant fresh laurels where they kill;
But their strong nerves at last must yield—
They tame but one another still.
Early or late
They stoop to Fate
And must give up their murmuring breath,
When they, pale captives, creep to death.
The garlands wither on your brow—
Then boast no more your mighty deeds!
Upon Death's purple altar now
See where the victor victim bleeds.
All heads must come
To the cold tomb—
Only the actions of the just
Smell sweet, and blossom in the dust.

Carpenters are getting very busy again, and this season promises more for them than any in a long while, which means much, as buildings have been going up here at a good rate for many seasons.

Night Prowlers Abroad.
Housebreakers have been extraordinarily active recently. Last Saturday night some prowler attempted to break into the home of Mr. G. C. Morgan, but was scared away, as he was heard while working on one of the windows, and when Mr. Morgan started out of the house his visitor ran. Sunday night while the family was at church some one made an effort to break into the home of Prof. C. C. Hayden, on Cherry street, but was evidently scared away. These attempts have placed householders on their guard, and further efforts on the part of the prowlers are likely to result in injury or apprehension of the culprits. It has been a long while since work of this kind has been done here, and it is suspected that outside talent is responsible.

City Stock and Cattle Law.
Horses and cows have been denied the use of the streets, alleys and pavements, as will be seen by reading the ordinance just passed by the city council. There will doubtless be some opposition to this law, as there was when Mr. Hog was forbidden to roam at will, but there are extremely few who do not now recognize the improved conditions of appearance and sanitation, and this supplementary law will doubtless also make for improved conditions.

To the Public.
On account of the extreme high prices and scarcity of hogs and cattle we will be compelled to raise the price of all meats sold at our market after March 13, 1930. We regret very much to have this to do, but it is either raise prices or quit business.

The efficiency of the fire department was again demonstrated Sunday night. Without this protection it is almost certain that other property would have been destroyed. There has never been a fair chance given the fire department, as the few fires we have had since water has been provided have occurred at the dead hours of night, the alarm being given after the buildings were wrapped in flames. But even at that a great showing has been made.

The Coburn minstrels appeared last Wednesday night, and played to the largest audience that ever filled the opera house. The organization is the best that ever made the town, and there was not a dull feature in the attraction, every act being well received. On account of injuries in the wrecking of the car here, one or two acts were not given, but the show was a satisfying one, clean, bright and clever, and deserves its extraordinary patronage.

Why I Sell for Cash.
A retailer had an advertisement with the above heading in a daily paper. It speaks for itself.
First: Because I will save the salary of a bookkeeper and a collector, which amounts to $500 a year.
Second: Because I will save in stamps and stationery $100 per year.
Third: Because I will always have $3,000 to $5,000 more merchandise in the store instead of on the books and in notes, and can therefore serve customers better.

Fourth: Because I will save 50 per cent. in the item of clerk hire; for one clerk in a cash store can do the work of two in a credit business.
Fifth: Because I will have no bad debts, and can therefore afford to sell my goods cheaper.
Sixth: Because, with the above saving to me, I can save customers from 20 to 30 per cent. on every article sold.

Seventh: Because the cash system is the only system; and quick sales for cash and short profits is the secret of success.—Merchant's Journal.

Arrested for Stealing Watch.
Emma Taylor, colored, was arrested last Thursday night on a charge of grand larceny, in stealing a watch from a safe at the home of Judge J. C. Jonson, where the woman was formerly employed. The watch was recovered, and in the search for it a grip was recovered that belonged to an I. C. conductor, the grip having been taken from the train some weeks ago. This is also a serious charge, as tickets and other valuables were contained in the bag; the contents were practically undisturbed, as there was no cash in it. Defendant waived an examining trial, and was held to the grand jury, being placed in jail on account of being unable to give a bond of $200. This is her first offense, and she has heretofore borne a good reputation.

A New and Interesting Book.
We are just in receipt of an unusually attractive circular announcing a very unusual book—"The Stark Year Book for 1930"—which is now being sent out by Stark Bro's Nurseries & Orchards Co., the famous nurserymen of Louisiana, Mo. The book contains 116 pages, 32 of which are four-color process reproductions of fruit in nature's own colors—the most natural, like-to-nature illustrations we have ever seen. The other 84 pages are devoted to full descriptions and prices of the various fruit trees, shade trees, ornamentals, vines, plants, roses, small fruit plants, etc., grown by Stark Bro's.

Any of our readers who are planning to plant a home orchard or to increase the beauty of their home grounds by planting shrubbery, roses or other plants this spring, should by all means send for the "Stark Year book for 1930." It really is a remarkable volume—one you will thoroughly enjoy looking through because of its exceeding beauty and one you will find very practical and helpful. Stark Bro's have advised us they will send this beautiful book to anyone interested, on receipt of 7 cents to cover postage. Address them at Louisiana, Mo. 104t.

Astronomy Club Planned.
On account of the number of "stray" bodies that are wandering around the heavens just now, quite an interest has sprung up among our people in astronomy. It is not confined to the star gazing of man and maid that follows St. Valentine, but is of the genuine research brand, calling real study into play. A club is being considered and Mr. C. A. Williams is tipped for president.

A residence near the depot belonging to Messrs. Belcher, Sparks & Rogers, and occupied by Mr. Henry Coleman and family, was destroyed by fire about 3:30 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, the fire originating in a kitchen flue. The contents of the house were consumed, and there was no insurance on either house or contents.

Wire Service Greatly Improved.

Telephone and telegraph service is now almost back to normal, as crews have repaired most of the wires broken by sleet and snow. The work has been tedious and very expensive, as hundreds of wires were broken, and many posts were snapped in two. The telephone service was the worst crippled, as there are hundreds of wires along the many lines out of town. The restoration work has been done very rapidly.

Mr. Ben Mayhugh who has been confined to his home for some time past is now able to be out again.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Peppermint Cure. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

Main Street Home Burned Sunday Night.

An alarm of fire about 1:15 Monday morning quickly drew the fire department and hundreds of people to the residence of Mr. Chas. Wickliffe, on North Main. The family had discovered the blaze, which originated from an unknown cause in the rear room, and the rear part of the home, which was of frame construction, was practically destroyed before the water connections were made. Two streams checked the fire rapidly, but the front portion was badly damaged, as much by the flood of water as from the fire. The kitchen furniture was destroyed, but most of the contents of the other rooms were saved, somewhat damaged. The home was occupied by Mr. Wickliffe, his mother and sister, Miss Nannie who are now at the home of Mr. Robert Wickliffe, adjoining. Mr. Wickliffe, in his efforts to save the furniture, injured his shoulder, and has been confined to his home. Insurance of $1,000 will help to cover the loss. Mr. Wickliffe intends to rebuild, and will soon begin operations.

Public Notice.

We are compelled to announce a slight advance in the price of meats, which will take effect March 13. This action is forced upon us by the raise in prices of stock, as well as the scarcity of offerings, which leave no other course for us but a raise in price. We thank the public for past favors, and ask further patronage.
